Longest Day Lasting Care

Every donation doubles. Every moment counts.

Introduction

On 20 & 21 June 2025, we're hosting Longest Day, Lasting Care - a fundraising marathon to help fund specialist palliative care for local people and their families.

For 30 years, Nightingale House Hospice has been at the heart of the community, but we rely on generous support to continue our vital work. This year, it will cost £15,351 per day to run the hospice, we need your help more than ever. By becoming a match funder, your contribution will have double the impact. Every public donation will be matched by a group of funders, including businesses, philanthropists, and foundations, so £3,000 becomes £6,000 for the hospice.

Your support will help fund rehabilitation, wellbeing sessions, creative therapy, respite, bereavement support, and end-of-life care. Join us and make a lasting difference.

Your support helps us provide essential care for patients and families living with life-limiting and progressive conditions. Here's how donations make a difference:

- A full course of complementary therapy sessions, including oncology reflexology, massage, Reiki, acupuncture, and aromatherapy for a patient and their carer – £600
- Daily meals for one in-patient over a year – £3,285
- One week of in-patient care for a patient – £6,510
- Lunches for all Wellbeing Programme patients across the year – £9,720
- Annual cost of providing piped oxygen on our IPU for our patients – £13,365

Please note: All costs are accurate at the time of printing and may be subject to change.

Every match funder will help us continue delivering expert care and support.

Treating people with dignity and care

At Nightingale House Hospice, we believe that everyone deserves to live with dignity, comfort, and compassion—no matter their diagnosis. For Carol Purchase and her family, the hospice became a place of comfort in their most difficult days.

When Carol was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer, her family faced an uncertain journey. Her symptoms worsened, medical appointments were delayed, and they felt helpless. But everything changed when they found Nightingale House Hospice.

Carol's daughter, Louise Dale, said: "At the hospice, everything felt different."

"The staff treated my mum with such dignity and care. It wasn't just about her illness; they saw her as a person, and that made all the difference."

From the moment Carol arrived, the hospice team worked tirelessly to manage her pain and symptoms, ensuring she was as comfortable as possible. After weeks of distress, she finally found relief.

Louise shared: "She felt safe here"

"For the first time in a long time, she was able to smile again."

But Nightingale House didn't just care for Carol, we cared for her whole family. Staff provided emotional support, answered difficult questions, and simply listened when they needed it most.

Louise said: "The staff didn't just look after my mum. They looked after all of us."

One of the most precious gifts the hospice gave the family was time to make meaningful memories. Even as Carol's condition declined, she was able to share special moments with her loved ones.

Louise recalled: "We had a little birthday party for my daughter, Leora, at the hospice, which the staff helped to organise."

"Mum couldn't go home, but the staff made sure we could celebrate together."

Since Carol's passing, her family has been determined to give back. Her son Simon completed a skydive, raising over £2,174, while her husband, Terry now volunteers at the hospice, a reflection of their gratitude for the care they received.

Louise said: "We will never be able to thank them enough."

"Nightingale House gave us comfort when we needed it most, and now we want to help others."

As we celebrate 30 years of specialist care, Nightingale House Hospice remains committed to supporting patients and families facing life-limiting and progressive illnesses just like we did for Carol and her family.

Every donation made during our Longest Day, Lasting Care campaign will be doubled, meaning your support goes twice as far.

With your help, we can continue to be there for families when they need us most.
